

Science Challenge

In March we held our annual British Science Week 2021. As part of our science week this year we saw the return of our whole school science challenge. This was set as a challenge for the children to carry out a science investigation or experiment whilst at home in lockdown.

Here are some of the entries:

The children uploaded images and videos of the science that they carried out at home.

